Who are NAB’s Members?
Regulatory boards and agencies responsible for licensure of long term care administrators in all 50 states and the District of Columbia are NAB members. NAB membership also includes former state board members and members representing allied professional and trade associations, academic institutions, continuing education sponsors and individual professionals who support NAB’s mission.

What are NAB’s Primary Attributes?
NAB furthers its mission and accomplishes its goals through a variety of programs and services as listed below:

NAB Nursing Home Administrators Examination Program (NHA)
NAB’s NHA exam program is an entry-level examination that measures the entry-level knowledge of nursing home administrators.

NAB Residential Care/Assisted Living Administrators (RC/AL) Examination Program
NAB’s RC/AL exam program is an entry-level examination that measures the entry-level knowledge of residential care/assisted living administrators.

State Examination Administration Program
The State Exam Administration Program was established to assist state regulatory boards and agencies in the administration of their state specific jurisprudence examinations, allowing exam candidates the ability to schedule examinations to fit their schedules and to take the national exam at the same time.

National Continuing Education Review Service (NCERS)
NCERS offers sponsors of continuing education a one-stop service for review and approval of continuing education programs.

Academic Accreditation Program
NAB’s Academic Accreditation Program establishes criteria for undergraduate and graduate degree programs in long term care administration.

Foundation of the National Association of Long Term Care Administrator Boards

The Foundation of the National Association of Long Term Care Administrator Boards (the “Foundation”) is a non-profit organization established to promote and enhance the profession of long term care administration for the organization’s members and to promote quality care and public protection for disabled and frail elderly populations.

The Foundation conducts research, supports educational development and quality initiatives and partners with non-profit organizations, government, consumer groups and the academic community in support of its mission.

Recent and current initiatives include sponsorship of white papers on person centered care, support and participation in the Advancing Excellence in America’s Nursing Homes Campaign and the Long Term Care Quality Alliance, co-sponsorship of the National Emerging Leadership Summit and sponsorship of research on the preparation of candidates entering the profession.

What are the features and benefits?

- Identify best practices through research
- Identify trends, challenges and issues of importance to the profession
- Actively participate and support quality initiatives
- Improve quality of care
- Enhance public protection

How does the Foundation accomplish the work?

The Foundation is governed by a Board of Trustees and is funded through donations, grants and sponsorships. The Foundation in turn provides support to allied organizations through grants and sponsorships in support of partnerships and initiatives that further the mission of the Foundation.

We invite you to participate

The Foundation’s Board of Trustees welcomes you to engage in discussion or submit proposals for consideration in support of the Foundation’s mission. The Foundation also welcomes funding partners and donations in support of the Foundation’s initiatives.
